InCK Business Highlight

CASA of Saline County

CASA volunteers are trained Court Appointed Special Advocates appointed by a judge to speak up for abused, neglected and/or abandoned children in the court system. 76,756 CASA volunteers help change children's lives. 250,323 abused and neglected children have a CASA volunteer speaking up for them. CASA volunteers are everyday citizens who have undergone screening and training with their local CASA program. Judges appoint CASA volunteers to represent the best interests of children who have been removed from their homes due to abuse or neglect.

Staff Spotlight

Shelly McCormick is the Educational Advocate for CASA of Saline County. She came to CASA with a special education background and extensive experience working with children. Her keen eye for details, helps with making sure our children have everything possible they need to help them advance their educational experience. As well as working closely with our advocates to make sure they have every tool to assist our children and advocate for their best interests.

InCK Success Stories

"I had a mother call that was in need of clothing for her child. After making a call to the Fowler Bonan Center they graciously said they could help the family. They gave a set amount of money to spend, and I worked with the family to stay in the budget. They were able to get all the clothing needed for their child at a local clothing store. A Fowler Bonan representative purchased the chosen clothes, and I then delivered them to the family." Sarah Smith, Service Intergration Coordinator
